Atlas Travel International is a full-service travel agency offering business travel management, vacation planning, meeting services and unique individual and group incentive solutions. Atlas operates out of two locations: Milford and Lexington, MA and has a virtual network of travel agents across the U.S. Atlas also owns Savvy Travel Shop, a fashion and travel goods boutique located inside their Lexington branch.

When you plan a vacation, you want to be rewarded for your months of hard work...to relax, experience something new and have someone else take care of the details. Atlas Travel International, owned by Westborough resident Elaine Osgood, is best known for its award-winning business travel management. However, its best-kept secret is its vacation department, managed by Karen McCrink, a travel veteran with more than 25 years experience. Atlas offers a level of expertise and destination knowledge that far surpasses the norm.

What kind of special expertise does Atlas offer?

Atlas has the ability to provide you with advice and guidance that only a travel expert can offer. As people explore the world online, we're booking far more exotic and intricate trips now than we ever have in our 24-year history. Our expert staff, each with over 20 years in the travel industry, has in-depth training and first-hand experience all over the world in destinations such as Africa, China, Morocco, Australia, Thailand, and more. We can advise you on the best time of day to view the pandas in China, how best to see the Sistine Chapel, or what visas are required for your destination.

Atlas Travel offers key services including customized travel planning with easy-to-understand travel documents, English-speaking drivers and guides around the globe, on-location destination experts and an in-house visa and passport expeditor. We take care of all the details, making sure your travel experience is not only trouble free, but also an experience of a lifetime.
